Woman's Trials.

The bitter trail in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may have been ere she learnt to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of this one pledge to mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of their disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous.

In many cases of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, since it is generally so easily removed by proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

Considerable surprise has been manifested in railroad circles in Virginia by the resignation of Judge William J. Leake as president of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac and the Washington-Southern Railroads. The resignation is to become effective November 19, when a meeting of the directors of the roads will be held. It is understood that Judge Leake will resume the practice of law. The selection of the successor to President Leake rests entirely in the hands of the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The Pennsylvania Railroad controls the stock of the road through the Richmond-Washington road, which is the holding company of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac and the Washington-Southern, and of which Vice-President Rhea, of Pennsylvania, is president. The Richmond-Washington company is owned jointly by the Pennsylvania, the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Norfolk and Western, the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line, each owning one-sixth of the stock. The Pennsylvania controls, therefore, two-thirds of the stock and can dictate the election of officers.

There was talk in local railroad circles in Richmond yesterday to the effect that the Pennsylvania Railroad intends merging the presidency of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac and the Washington-Southern with that of the Chesapeake and Ohio and have President Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio, a Pennsylvania official, in charge of both. From this source it is learned that the two offices can be taken care of by one Pennsylvania representative and in that way reduce the operating expenses of all the Pennsylvania lines concerned.

The State of Virginia is a large stockholder in the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac road and has a representative on the board of directors. It is thought that common prudence will induce the Pennsylvania to name some man agreeable to this representative and not objectionable to the State at large. Both the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac and the Washington-Southern have important matters to get through the State legislature, and it will, therefore, be necessary to select as president a man who will be able to further these plans.

President Talks with Labor Men.

The measure introduced at the last session of Congress known as the Pearre anti-injunction bill was the subject of a conference yesterday between President Roosevelt and Samuel Gompers and several other representatives of the American Federation of Labor. The Pearre bill has the indorsement of the federation, whose representatives are anxious that some recommendations along its lines shall be made by the President in his annual message to Congress. The President promised the committee to delegate four officials identified with the legal work in the government service to meet a similar number of labor representatives, with their attorneys, to go over the whole matter and to present their conclusions to him. The President, Mr. Gompers said, did not define his attitude or commit himself on the subject of the Pearre bill, but expressed himself as determined that absolute justice should be done.

Questions affecting the application of the eight-hour law to labor on the Panama canal and its general administration in government work in the United States, together with others affecting labor matters which the federation is anxious the President shall consider in his message to Congress, were talked over. With Mr. Gompers were Frank Morrison, the secretary of the federation, and James O'Connell, of the International Association of Machinists.

Cannot Regulate Speed.

There was great rejoicing in railroad circles in Pittsburg, Pa., yesterday afternoon when news came from Westmoreland county that Judge Doty had reversed Justice Louis Strausser, a justice of the peace of Suterville, Pa., in which the justice had fined an engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for dashing through the town at a speed in violation of the speed ordinance, which said that no train should be run faster than ten miles an hour.

The decision will likely be of far-reaching effect in railroad circles, as it was carried from the office of the justice of the peace by the railroad people as a test case, and it was understood that it would be fought through all the courts of the land. The reversal means practically that no borough can make laws which will interfere with the running of fast trains, especially with those carrying the mails of the United States, and if this reversal is sustained, there will be great consternation in many boroughs of the country.

The town of Suterville on the Baltimore and Ohio road after having several of its citizens killed by a fast train passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for any one to run a train, through at a speed of more than ten miles an hour. On one occasion an engineer was hauled from the cab of the fast mail and sent to jail. This was the case which was appealed.

THE DINING-ROOM

is used oftener than almost any other room in the house. That is why it should be made the most comfortable spot, and be pleasingly arranged.

Without cut glass and silverware a dining room makes little impression and is hardly home like. A few pieces tastily arranged will make a better effect than many of them placed indiscriminately.

A silver fern dish puts a finish to the table and livens up the room. A silver set is needed to decorate the sideboard. A few cut glass pieces so arranged as to contrast with the tea set will make the sideboard as it should be. The cut glass required are decanters, berry bowls and fruit dishes. The only other silver piece that should be in evidence is the candelabra.

If you want your dining room to be just so have the bread trays and other trays of silver. Even the crumb tray and scraper should be silver-plated.

The steel knives should have silver-plated handles to match the silver-plated spoons, knives and forks.

If you are not satisfied unless your dining-room is properly fitted, you are undoubtedly particular about your own person. It is just as well that you are. A little attention to your ownself begets attention from others. Wear a diamond ring or two, a locket, watch and chain. As the chain is more in evidence than the watch or the locket, you may as well wear the best there is—the guaranteed Z-K Gold Chain.

Let us fit out the dining-room as well as yourself. Prices very reasonable.

SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 8, 1906.

It is generally held that a man elected to office is a fair representative of the constituency which elects him, and the sort of government which a people prefer is of course determined by a majority of the people themselves. In Pennsylvania on Tuesday the people of that State voted for the kind of government they wanted. There were two tickets—one which represented honesty and the proper administration of public affairs, and the other, the kind of government that the old combine of political contractors gave the State with padded registration lists, stuffed ballot boxes, a prostituted public service and contracts at enormous figures for the contractors who controlled the politics of the State. The voters chose the last mentioned ticket by a tremendous majority, showing clearly that they prefer dishonesty to honesty and extravagance rather than an economical expenditure of public moneys. What is to be the end of such a state of affairs?

Mrs. Sally Morris Corey had some really refreshing things to say to the club-women who attended the meeting of the Society for Political Study, at New York, last week. One was that a woman must be either a fool or a toady, without original or independent speech, if she was to be a popular clubwoman. She said the business woman was all right if she was one, but that too many made a pretense of business, hoping to secure notice or make a match. She compared the nineteenth century mother and homemaker with the up-to-date college girl pursuing a foreign title, "neglectful mothers of unwished-for children." She insisted that until we had women judges, juries and executioners, the sex would never be on real equality with men.

The republican majority in the House of Representatives is 112 and in Tuesday's election the democrats reduced this majority by more than one half. But for the unfortunate speech made by Mr. Bryan when he returned from Europe in August last and the acceptance of Mr. Hearst as the democratic candidate for governor of New York there is every reason to believe that this republican majority would have been wiped out entirely and that the democrats would have gained control of the popular branch of Congress. But as has been the case for years past, when the democrats see victory ahead they can be relied upon to make some fool move that turns victory into defeat.

Forty years after the civil war was ended there had been a net decrease for the fiscal year of 12,470 in the number of persons on the government pension roll. During the year 84,574 names were added to the rolls and 47,444 names dropped. Of the civil war veterans 39,208 died during the year, leaving 666,453 survivors out of a total of 985,971 still on the pension list. The most youthful of the men who fought under McClellan and Grant are well advanced in years. The pension list will soon show that the widows of veterans and the pensioners of later wars outnumber the survivors of the civil war.

Despite the unprecedented machinery for publicity an organization specially devised to advance his political ambitions and his lavish use of money, Mr. Hearst's vote in greater New York fell 50,000 short of that cast for a democratic candidate for governor a few years ago, and thousands upon thousands below the other candidates on the same ticket with him. This induces the New York Herald to say that any decent democrat standing upon democratic principles would have been elected by an overwhelming plurality. And the proof of this is self evident.

A current number of the Living Church reflects the movement among Episcopalians in favor of reintroducing the ancient sacramental rite of unction as a means of protecting the church against the inroads of Christian Science and other healing cults. The article points out that technically and potentially the American churches have never abandoned the healing office, but that by practice the rite has fallen into disuse. The rite consists in the anointing of the sick with holy oils and in a prayer for the recovery of the patient's health.

The order from the President directing that the battalion of colored troops concerned in the riots at Brownsville, Tex., be discharged without honor was made public in Washington on Tuesday evening. The order was all right, for the men had been guilty of conduct grossly prejudicial to the service, but, it will be observed, it was not issued till the elections were over.

In one of his speeches Mr. Hughes said: "I propose that corporations shall obey the law, whether they run railroads or newspapers." If Mr. Hughes makes good what he promises, there will be less anarchy and discontent in New York.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

In his annual report to the Secretary of War, made public today, Brig. Gen. Crozier, Chief of Ordnance, show that the army is well supplied with arms and ammunition of the most improved design to carry on war. The regular troops have been supplied with the new magazine rifle, the invention of American army officers, which is regarded as the most efficient weapon of its kind in the world. The new design of field artillery piece has also been issued and ammunition for all kinds of weapons is being manufactured by the government and for the government in sufficient quantity to meet all demands. The United States has recently adopted, Gen. Crozier says, a new design of bullet for the rifle. The new bullet weighs 150 grains, as against 220 grains, weight of the old. The improved bullet attains a muzzle velocity of about 2,800 feet a second, an increase of 600 feet a second over that of the old bullet. It is believed that greater accuracy can also be obtained. General Crozier declares that it has become necessary to increase the size of the maximum gun for coast defenses from 12-inches to 14-inches. He calls attention to the fact that the 12-inch gun firing a projectile of 1,000 pounds with a velocity of 2,500 feet a second only lasts 60 rounds, and, as the gun is capable of firing at a rate of 45 rounds an hour, the life of the gun could be reached in less than an hour and a half. In attempting to run by fortifications guarding the entrance to a harbor the period that would elapse from the time that the leading vessel of the fleet would come within range until the last vessel would pass beyond the range of the coast guns would be about two hours, which makes it evident that the 12-inch guns would not last through such an engagement. Similar statement, says Gen. Crozier, can be made of guns of smaller calibers. By increasing the caliber to 14 inches he declares he can get higher penetrating power with a projectile weighing 1,660 pounds and a life for the gun of about 240 rounds. For this reason he has decided, with the approval of the Secretary of War, to build the larger size gun for the coast defenses of this country.

The question of whether the government violates its own law when contracts with the railroads to haul troops cheaper than the regular party rates still puzzles the Interstate Commerce Commission. The old law provided that the government could make the lowest possible contract with railroads for hauling troops. As this section was not one of those amended by the Hepburn bill, War Department officials maintain that they have the right to go ahead and get their soldiers transported as cheaply as possible. The Interstate Commerce Commission will let them know within a few days just how they stand on this proposition. In official circles a favorable opinion is expected.

Very few visitors called at the White House today, and those who came made their business brief. The President was engaged most of the morning in clearing up routine work prior to his departure for Panama, and when he left for his luncheon at 1.30 he left his desk empty of papers. During the morning he received a call from Count Aoki, the Japanese Ambassador, who came to bid him farewell; James O'Connell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor who brought him some data relating to the labor conditions in Panama and the canal strip; and Assistant Secretary Keeps of the Treasury Department, who took up a departmental matter.

Signor Montagna, secretary and charge of the Italian Embassy, while at the State Department today, announced that he expected the Italian Ambassador, Baron Mayor des Planches, to return to his post in this city towards the latter part of this month or early in December. This effectually disposes of the many reports that have been in circulation to the effect that the Baron was either to ill to return here, or as some put it, that he had resigned from this post in a huff because he could not get along with secretary Root.

The President has granted a medal of honor to Edward Murray, a Pennsylvania Railroad conductor of Pittsburg for heroism in endangering his own life to save the lives of two children, who on January 22, stepped upon the track in front of Murray's train.

The President's trip to Panama, on which he starts this afternoon, will be an absolute novelty in American history. For the first time since the United States joined the society of independent nations, its President will set foot on foreign soil.

A Reprimand for Weather Chief.

President Roosevelt has directed that a reprimand be administered to Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, for his action in the case of a printer named Cooper, in his office, who had been expelled from the Typographical Union for not paying his strike assessments. Mr. Moore, it is alleged, urged Cooper on two occasions to pay his assessments, but the latter refused, and he was expelled from the union. Following this Cooper was transferred to New Orleans, and he claimed that this action on the part of Mr. Moore was intended as a punishment for him for not complying with the demands of the Typographical Union. The matter was referred to the Civil Service Commission, which, without reporting on the question of whether or not Cooper's transfer was intended as a punishment, held that Mr. Moore's action in urging the payment of the strike assessments was improper. Under the circumstances the commission expressed the opinion that Cooper's transfer would not be for the good of the service, as this would give the impression that it was intended as a punishment. Cooper, according, will be reinstated in his former position in the Weather Bureau in Washinton, and the reprimand to Mr. Moore will, at the direction of the President, be administered by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Injured at a Fire.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 8.—Five persons were injured at a fire in the four story brick tenement at 35 Henderson street today. Gas fitters had been working on the top floor, and it is supposed that gas which escaped became ignited and set fire to the hallway, cutting off escape. Firemen carried Mrs. Lizzie Ryan and her three children down ladders. The woman and her three-year-old son were somewhat burned about the body and hands.

After the flames had been extinguished there was found in the apartments on the third floor the unconscious body of a five years old boy who had been visiting in the excitement. The child is in a critical condition. A fireman had one of his feet crushed by the overturning of a hook and ladder truck.

The peculiar trait of the Anglo-Saxon race, he said, was courageous manhood and pure womanhood. Bishop A. M. Randolph closed the ceremony with a short address.

For the first time since reconstruction days a county in Alabama has gone republican. In Winston, the smallest county in Alabama, every democrat candidate was defeated.

THE ELECTIONS.

Late returns of the Congress elections show a few additional democratic gains, and it is probable that the republicans will have a majority of less than fifty in the House in the next (the Sixtieth) Congress. In the Congress elections two years ago the republicans swept the country and secured the unprecedented majority of 112. Returns received late last night show that of 386 Representatives in Congress the republicans have elected 215 and the democrats 170. The democrats appear to have a net gain of 31 districts. Their gains were: Illinois, 5; Indiana, 2; Iowa, 2; Minnesota, 1; Missouri, 7; Nebraska, 1; New Jersey, 3; New York, 2; North Carolina, 1; Ohio, 4; Pennsylvania, 5; Wisconsin, 1. They lost two in Kentucky and one in West Virginia.

While the republicans suffer a great reduction in the number of their representatives in the lower branch of the national legislature, they made gains in the Senate. The returns indicate that the States of Colorado, Idaho, and Montana each of which has a democratic Senator, whose term will expire next March, have elected republican legislatures. This means that Senator Thomas H. Patterson, Fred T. Dubois and William A. Clark will be succeeded by republicans.

Last night's returns received from unofficial sources indicated that all of the democratic candidates for office on the state ticket in New York with the exception of Mr. Hearst, had been elected. Mr. Hughes' plurality is about 60,000. His lead was obtained through the knifing of Mr. Hearst, which did not affect the rest of the democratic ticket, the various candidates on which received pluralities ranging from 3,700 to 15,800.

The republican majority in Maryland, based on congressional returns, is a fraction over 7,000. This apparent heavy loss may be attributed to the failure of the democrats to show fight in the counties.

The result of Tuesday's election has thrown into republican hands such a volume of patronage in Chicago and Cook county, Illinois, as it has never had at its disposal before. The only remnant remaining to the democrats is what pertains directly to the mayorality, held by Edward F. Dunne.

Returns on Tuesday election in Montana are not complete, but enough figures are at hand to indicate that Pray (rep.), has been elected Congressman-at-Large by between 4,500 and 6,000; Smith (rep.), associate justice of the Supreme Court, by 10,000. The republicans will have 15 or 20 majority on joint ballot in the legislature.

From nearly complete returns from all counties, the democrats have carried Kentucky by a plurality of 7,640 electing all candidates on the State ticket and twelve of the sixteen Congressmen. The republicans elected Congressmen in Kansas City and St. Louis, but lost all the districts in the State which had been swept into the republican ranks two years ago.

The figures of the Wisconsin election are complete. They show a victory for La Follette and the democrats in several instances. Congressman Babcock, opposed by La Follette, was defeated by James W. Murphy, a democrat, in whose behalf the La Follette followers and speakers campaigned vigorously.

With only a few mountain counties to hear from, and these probably increasing his lead, Governor Beckham has won his fight against Senator McCreary for the nomination for the United States senatorship in Kentucky on Tuesday's democratic primaries.

The republicans of North Dakota concede the defeat of Gov. Sarles by Mr. Burke, his democratic opponent, by a probable plurality of 2,000.

The republican candidate for governor in New Hampshire having failed to get a majority over the other two candidates, the legislature will elect.

Almost complete returns from the larger precincts of Nevada show a sweeping democratic victory. Bartlett, democrat for Congress, will defeat Smith, republican, by 1,000, and Sparks, democrat, incumbent governor, will defeat Mitchell by about the same. The legislature will be close, but a majority of the holdover Senators, who will vote for a United States Senator two years from now, will be republican.

The unionist party carried all seven election districts in Porto Rico, leaving the republicans without representation in the next House of Delegates. The election was very orderly.

Chairman Griggs, of the democratic congressional committee, said in Washington last night: "I am in favor of nominating John Sharp Williams for president, regardless of the supposition that a southern man cannot be elected. It is evident that, although democratic principles are accepted and put in force by a republican administration, the democratic party as now organized cannot get the offices."

Killed Life-Long Associate.

Democratic Congressman-elect Judge G. K. Favrot yesterday evening shot and instantly killed his life-long associate and former schoolmate, Dr. H. H. Aldrich, one of the best known citizens of Baton Rouge, La.

Hundreds of persons were near the scene of the shooting, but none knew what had passed between the two men. Judge Favrot refused to talk, beyond letting it be known that the matter was a private quarrel.

The shot was fired in the Raymond building, opposite the Istrouma Hotel, out of which a crowd of society women was pouring, having just left a reception. Among these women were the mother and sister of Judge Favrot.

Judge Favrot was arrested and jailed in the building where he had held court yesterday.

Judge Favrot is thirty-eight years old, and is regarded as one of the most brilliant young men of Louisiana. In the recent democratic primaries he defeated for the nomination S. M. Robertson, who had been a Representative in Congress for twenty years.

The Castellane Divorce Case.

Paris, Nov. 8.—Countess Anna de Castellane has won her first contention in her suit for divorce against her "noble" husband, who beat her, and there will be no open trial. The judges will decide the question of the divorce on the documentary evidence submitted. This determination was announced today with a statement that a verdict will be rendered next Thursday.

This means the names of the women who are Boni's companions in his liaisons will not be made public. It also means that Boni will have a chance for his life which he would not have had if his demand for an open hearing of the charges made against him had been sustained.

An army of creditors thronged the court house to offer a proof of their claims against the prodigal count whose personal debts are estimated to reach $800,000.

M. Bonnet declared that Boni has spent a hundred thousand francs he inherited from Madame Gallieri, and 800,000 francs which he had anticipated receiving from his father, the Marquis de Castellane, on the Trianon, the handsome Paris mansion of the Castellanes.

In outlining Boni's demands M. Bonnet stated that the count is willing for the children to remain with their mother except that they are to spend a part, at least, of all holidays with him and are to visit his parents on Thursday and Sunday afternoons. Neither are the children to be taken to America without his permission, as in no other way can Boni be assured that they will be reared according to French ideas. Boni fears that the countess may want to keep them in the United States in view of her statement that she is miserable in France and has never felt at home there.

M. Bonnet made a final effort to induce the court to order an inquiry to prove the allegations made against his client, which he stated had not been substantiated. The court ruling was against him, however.

Then came the creditors, and the hearing of their claims, which had been postponed until after the divorce case was attended to, was begun.

That the creditors intend to try to hold Countess Anna jointly liable with Boni for his enormous debts was demonstrated in the opening speech of M. Millerand. The attorney declared that the 1,000,000 francs annual income allotted the Castellanes by the Gould family was not sufficient to meet the household expenses. Hence Boni and Countess Anna jointly got into the hands of usurers. Both husband and wife signed papers on which money was loaned. He declared that Countess Anna has recognized the debts, thus making herself responsible for them. The hearing was adjourned after M. Millerand's address.

Germany Disappointed.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—The consistent republican victories in the American elections, especially in the congressional fights, are extremely disappointing to Germany. Many of the newspapers take the view that a tariff war between Germany and the United States will begin next year. A democratic victory was desired by the German government in the belief that the democrats would reduce the protective tariff and promote a German-American commercial treaty.

Baron Sternburg, the German Ambassador to the United States, a year ago advised Germany to be patient and renew the existing treaty provisionally, as the election would reveal the American nation's desire to meet Germany half way. Accordingly, the agreement was continued in effect until June, 1907, without Germany receiving any reciprocal advantages. Now Baron Sternburg's prophesy has proved wrong, and Germany must submit to the disastrous effects of the American tariff, while giving the United States the "most favored nation terms."

Attacks on the government for weakness and bad judgment in view of the election results, are made by many of the papers.

Views of London Newspapers.

London, Nov 8.—That the American people are exasperated with the growing trust power and are preparing to combat their despotism is the lesson which most of the London newspapers read in the New York election. In no other way can they account for Hearst's strength.

The Morning Post says the significance of the election is not in the majority against Hearst, but in the huge minority for him.

The Telegraph does not consider Hearst in any wise "done for," and expects President Roosevelt to head the increasing anti-trust cry.

This is the view of the Daily Mail, which acknowledges a victory for Roosevelt, but says the people have shown that they expect him to act with greater energy against the trusts.

The Times thinks the result will sober both sides and adds: "It is the monstrous and ostentatious employment of money as an engine of oppression and wrong among people who are intelligent and devoted to freedom which alone made the career of Hearst possible."

Remains Found in Sewer.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 8.—Piece by piece the big county sewer is giving up the remains of an unknown man who, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury, came to his death by violent means at the hands of parties unknown. Eleven days ago the trunk of a body was found near the mouth of the sewer. Later fragments of arms and legs were found. Tuesday a foot encased in a newspaper was fished from the sewer near Brighton, several miles from the sewer's mouth. Yesterday a human skull was found in the sewer. The jaws were crushed in, evidencing foul play. Another leg and foot were also discovered yesterday. Wire and rope were tied to the leg and to the other end were attached pieces of rock. All efforts to identify the dead man and to learn the manner and motive for the murder have failed.

Death by Explosion.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Miss Catherine Keener, aged 21, was awakened by the odor of gas last night. She lighted a match to investigate. The explosion which resulted blew away one side of the house and Miss Keener received burns from which she died today.

The Sixtieth Congress.

New York, Nov. 8.—Congressional returns up to noon today show little change. The republicans will control the Sixtieth Congress with a majority of about sixty. The democrats made a gain of twenty-seven seats. The republicans elected 232 members and the democrats 163.

The returns show that the republicans gained one Congressman in Maryland, two in Kentucky, and one in West Virginia; while the democrats gained six Congressmen in Missouri, three in Indiana, five in Illinois, one in Iowa, one in Maryland, one in Nebraska, one in Minnesota, one in New York, three in Ohio, three in New Jersey, five in Pennsylvania, and one in North Carolina.

The Illinois Election.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Revised figures on Tuesday's election indicate today that the plurality given the State ticket will range in the neighborhood of 120,000, the highest ever reached in an "off-year" in Illinois since 1894, when it topped 134,000. The total vote in the State will not exceed 845,000, the lowest poll since 1890.

In the next general assembly the republicans will have two more seats in the Senate than they ever had before in the history of the party. In the House they will hold five chairs less than in the last session.

The socialists this year will be without a representative in the lower House, both the memberships they held in the Forty-fourth assembly, having been lost Tuesday. The prohibitionists have doubled their holdings.

The New York Election.

New York, Nov. 8.—Until the several boards of county canvassers meet next Tuesday to report the vote the question whether the republican or democratic ticket from the Lieutenant Governor down is elected will probably be in doubt. The latest unofficial returns indicate that the democratic ticket with the exception of Mr. Hearst is elected. The returns from many interior counties are guess work and in this city there are wide differences between the tabulations of the police and the press associations. The police returns show the democratic pluralities larger than those found by the news associations. If the police returns are correct, Lewis Stuyvestant Chanler and the rest of the democratic ticket have been elected.

Millionaires Declared to be Squatters.

New York, Nov. 8.—Scores of millionaires and hundreds of property owners residing along aristocratic Fifth Avenue have been pronounced "squatters" by a decision of Justice O'Gorman, of the Supreme Court. Stoops of houses, porticoes and court yards encroaching upon city property will have to be torn down, involving the loss of millions. The city proposed to widen Fifth Avenue, it was discovered there were numerous encroachments of private property. Structures as Waldorf-Astoria, Sherry the Knickerbocker Trust Company, Altman's new store will have to undergo changes. The Whitney mansion close its lawn, and the famous Vanderbilt fence and gardens will have to Cast His Ashes Into the River.

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—The body of John McHugh, a wealthy steamboat man, who died in Evansville, Ind., was cremated in Cincinnati, and according to his last request, his ashes were on the Ohio river which he had loved so well. Last evening, as the sun was sinking over the hills, the steamboat Indiana, bound from Cincinnati to Evansville, swung into mid-stream and the unique ceremony took place. With bared heads the crew and passengers watched Mrs. McHugh consign the ashes of her husband to the murky water that had fascinated him in life.

Bride to be Placed on Trial.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Court attaches preparing to take part in the trial of Miss Lucille McLeod, on the charge of killing William E. Nieman in the Empire Hotel, last December, were surprised to learn today that she had become Mrs. Fred H. Memhard. She will appear as a bride before the jury that will try her on the charge of murder tomorrow, awaiting its decision whether she shall spend her honeymoon behind the grim walls of a penitentiary. The marriage of Miss McLeod and Memhard was secret.

C., was arraigned on extradition proceedings in Bow street police court today charged with murdering his mother-in-law in Germany. He stoutly maintained his innocence. He declared there must be some misunderstanding, and demanded that he be sent back to Germany immediately, but, he was remanded by the magistrate for a further hearing. Stau was well supplied with money and the court awarded a part of his funds for the support of his wife and child who are in London.

Ordered to Southwest Africa.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—Marie Sulzer, the concert hall actress, who is engaged to marry Prince Joachim, of Prussia, will probably have plenty of time in which to perfect her title as Baroness von Liebenberg, to which she laid siege, and secure a divorce from the Baron before she is married to her fiance. Prince Joachim has just been ordered to German Southwest Africa for daring to oppose the Kaiser's wishes in threatening to marry the woman despite all opposition.

Turn on Gompers.

After analyzing Tuesday's election returns, labor leaders admitted in Washington yesterday that the political campaign of the American Federation of Labor was not an unqualified success. Not a single member put on labor's blacklist was defeated, and Speaker Cannon, marked for slaughter by President Samuel Gompers, was elected by a largely increased majority. It is the expectation that the factional strife in the Federation of Labor will soon come to a head, now that President Gompers has failed in his efforts to make headway in politics. There is a strong movement in the federation to oust Mr. Gompers from the presidency, and the statement was made in a responsible quarter some weeks ago that the political movement was started by Gompers to save his position.

More Changes.

The President yesterday announced another Cabinet change and the appointment of Attorney General Moody to the supreme bench. Secretary Hitchcock, of the Interior Department, voluntarily retires from public life, and will be succeeded on March 4, next, by James R. Garfield, Commissioner of Corporations.

William A. Richards, Commissioner of the General Land Office, will also resign March 4. His successor has not been determined upon. Herbert Knox Smith, present Assistant Commissioner of Corporations, will succeed Mr. Garfield as head of that important bureau.

Attorney General Moody will become Justice of the Supreme Court to succeed Justice Brown, retired.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of my dear sister, ROSE ELLA HAYES, who died November 8, 1903—three years ago today.

To meet in heaven around the throne
Of Him who died to save;
Be this our hope, our anxious care,
To meet beyond the grave.

By Her Sister.

Livingston, of New York, Secretary of the British Embassy at Constantinople and formerly attached to the British Embassy at Washington.

The church was filled with prominent people and a large crowd of members of society attended the reception subsequently held by the bride's mother. The ring presented the bride with an amethyst and diamond pendant. Ambassador Reid and Mrs. Reid and all the leaders of the American colony, as well as many friends in the United States, figure on the extended list of donors of jewels and other costly presents.

Beautiful as is King Edward's diamond and amethyst pendant, it is eclipsed by some of the splendid gems American relatives have sent her.

From her aunt, Mrs. Ogden Mills, her mother's twin sister, she has received a superb diamond collar. Clusters of very large stones are in the centre of all the scrolls which make up the collar.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs Maturin Livingston, of New York, sent a box containing old heirlooms, diamonds in, quaint settings, an ornament of fine pink diamonds, a pair of shoe buckles that once adorned Charles II and an unique ornament worn by Napoleon I in the days of his imperial splendor.

Arrested as Suspicious Persons.

Harry McDonald, A. J. Milstead and John Carroll were arrested last night by Officers Ferguson and Gill on Alfred street, between King and Cameron, as suspicious characters. The officers in their statements this morning said that the trio were standing in dark places on the square acting in a questionable manner and soliciting aid from passersby. One of the men, it was asserted, had knocked at the front door of a house on the square and asked alms. The accused denied that they were were asking for aid, and said they were painters by trade and resided in Washington. They also said that they had worked in Alexandria, and yesterday had endeavored to procure a license, but were unable to find the Commissioner of the Revenue. They were dismissed by Justice Caton with the understrading that they would leave the city.

The New Electric Works.

The work of preparing the building at the foot of Wolfe street for the purposes of the Alexandria Electric Company is nearing completion. The machinery and wire for the new plant is expected to reach this city within the next few days. It is still believed by the officials that the works will be in operation by the middle of next month. Some manufactories are making comparisons between the cost of steam and electricity, and it has been demonstrated to their satisfaction that the latter is the more economical of the two, and power from the plant will doubtless be used at most factories in this city.

The case of the National Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics of North America et als., plaintiffs in error, against the State Council of Virginia Junior Order United American Mechanics of the State of Virginia, defendants in error, was argued and submitted in the U. S. Supreme Court yesterday. The case grows out of the "insurrection" of the Virginia council against the national council because of the clause is the declaration of principles of the national council. The court had decided that the "old" council was the State council, hence the appeal.

Euchre Party Last Night.

The progressive euchre party given last night by the Catholic Womens' Benevolent Legion, Kenefick Council, 190, of St. Mary's Church, at the Young Men's Sodality Lyceum Hall was attended by a large crowd. The affair had been well-planned and was greatly enjoyed by all who attended. Many pretty prizes were awarded.

Earl Burgess Company.

"Queen of the White Slaves," a four act melodrama, was presented at the Opera House last night to a crowded house. The drama throughout was very interesting and was heartily enjoyed. The play contained many difficult parts, but each one was well taken, especially those of Ralph Grimes (C. C. Miller) and Smoke Pot (Raymond Paine). The specialties were again of a clever nature. The company will present tonight "Escaped From the Harem," a play full of startling scenes and thrilling climaxes. The story of the play is very beautiful, and gives an opportunity for each and every person to show his or her ability in a manner which is very pleasing to every one. The comedy which is intermingled with the many scenes is very pleasing. The vaudeville features will be changed each performance and will be seen between the acts and during the action of the play.

Carried off by Gypsies.

John Adam, who said his home was in Chicago, applied in the District Court at Salem, Massachusetts, yesterday for a warrant for the arrest of several members of a band of gypsies, in winter quarters at South Salem, on the charge of having abducted his daughter, Rosie, 13 years old, a year ago.

Adam told the police that he was a Russian, and that while he was living in Chicago, about a year ago, his daughter suddenly disappeared. Being convinced that she had been carried off by the gypsies, Adam decided to search for her by joining the gypsies. He and his wife, therefore, became attached to a tribe which landed in Somerville recently, and a week ago he found his child with another band at South Salem. When he tried to take her away he alleges that the gypsies threatened to kill both him and his daughter. The police, being informed of the case, took the child away from the camp pending an investigation.

The British Toastmaster.

The British banquet differs from the American only in that the chairman presides, but does not keep order or announce the toasts. That is attended to by a professional toastmaster, who is a large person with a volcanic voice. While the guests are assembling he stands at the doorway and announces the names of the arrivals, who are then greeted by the chairman and passed into the push. When the guests are seated he takes up his station behind the chair of the presiding officer and commands order in these terms: "My lords and gentlemen, I pray you silence. We will now listen to the toast to his imperial majesty the German emperor, responded to by his excellency the lord chancellor." For the rest the speeches drawl and drag, as in New York, with now and then a sparkle of wit or a flash of mental energy, usually from some unexpected quarter. The turtle soup is no better than ours. The toastmaster gets $10 for a night's work.—New York World.

Protection For Swimmers.

"Cotton in the ears," said a physician, "should be used by all those who swim out beyond their depth. You know how often good swimmers of that type drown, don't you? Their drowning is imputed to cramp, but you will never find one of the drowned with his ears stuffed with cotton. Why? I'll tell you why. Because it isn't cramp that causes these drownings. It is a perforation of the eardrum, followed by unconsciousness, due to the pressure of the water. Cramp isn't, after all, the deadly thing it is made out to be. If you get a cramp in your leg while swimming it is easy enough to roll over on your back and float. The cramp won't kill you. But a perforation of the eardrum is different. It takes away your senses, and down you go like a log. So always, if you are going to do much swimming, stuff cotton in your ears."—New York Press.

Diamond Mine Prisons.

Each of the great South African diamond mines has its several compounds, where the Kaffirs are imprisoned. These are inclosures with walls sufficiently high to prevent escape, and around the walls is a stretch of roofing sufficient to prevent the inmates from tossing diamonds to the outside to be picked up by confederates. In the early days the Kaffirs used to throw diamonds over the walls in tin cans, so that their wives or friends might come and pick them up. When the Kaffirs go to Kimberley from their tribes they agree to submit to imprisonment. The shortest period is three months, but there are many who have never been out of the compounds for two or three years.—World's Work.

A Funny Incident.

When Senator Wolcott first went to Colorado he and his brother opened a law office at Idaho Springs under the firm name of "Ed Wolcott & Bro." Later the partnership was dissolved. The future senator packed his few assets, including the sign that had hung outside of his office, upon a burro and started for Georgetown, a mining town farthur up in the hills. Upon his arrival he was greeted by a crowd of miners who critically surveyed him and his outfit. One of them looking first at the sign that hung over the pack, then at Wolcott and finally at the donkey ventured, "Say, stranger, which of you is Ed?"

The Art of the Parasol.

A well adjusted parasol enables you to hide blushes you don't want people to see and to hide the blushes that aren't there if you want people to think they are, and it enables you to cut people who deserve to be cut and to avoid people whom you daren't cut, but whom you particularly don't want to see.—"The World and His Wife."

Shaving.

The earliest known mention of shaving is in the Bible (Genesis xliv, 14), "And he (Joseph) shaved himself and came before Pharaoh." Shaving the beard was introduced by the Romans about 300 B. C.
